

Building and Sustaining High Performance Teams – Learning from Analogies

MONDAY 1ST TO WEDNESDAY 3RD OCTOBER 2018 | LISBON | 10TH CRF INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Corporate Research Forum (CRF) is a network for multinational businesses, including many of Europe's leading organisations. CRF's annual international conference is one of the largest gatherings of senior HR Directors in Europe, delivering two days of intellectual challenge, stimulation and learning.

Using a number of analogies – sporting, military, musical and historical – this year, the event has a confirmed panel of expert presenters who will challenge and inform our personal and organisational effectiveness by referencing outstanding performance and achievements in other fields.

The first-class speaker line-up includes:

- Professor Ina Toegel, IMD Business School
- Dr. Stephen Bungay, Ashridge Strategic Management Centre
- Dr. Tomas Chamorro-Premuzic, Columbia University, New York
- Dominic Mahony, Lane4
- Professor Gernot Schulz, musician and conductor
- Paula Marques, Porto Business School

The antithesis of 'sit and listen', the conference is the event of choice for those looking to be selective in their use of time and discerning in choice of fellow attendees. Interactive and participative, contributions from attendees provide much of the content through informal discussions and networking.

WHY ATTEND?

Book your place at the conference and benefit from:

- the latest insights and learnings regarding the way elite individuals and organisations come together and perform at the highest level for sustained periods
- practical recommendations derived from engaging speakers and peer-to-peer discussions
- a unique blend of learning, sharing and relationship building among the 400+ senior level attendees
- a day of formal and informal peer networking, where you can build valuable and meaningful connections within the HR field and explore how other businesses' are dealing with the same challenges you are facing.
